A neat but hard puzzle\/platformer Where your trying to escape an AI who's taken you prisoner in a tron like world, you'll likely die a'lot trying to beat courses but once you get the hang of jumping, timing, and solving the tricky puzzles you'll come out on top (until the next level) >:). The levels runs suprisingly smooth on good graphics for me on ultra. The few issues thou are "spoilers up ahead" at the first level spawn area the glass platforms don't respawn and they lead to the answer to the first puzzle forcing a restart, in one level the cubes can get stuck to the walls and fall in deadly pools forcing the player to restart (thankfully its at a checkpoint), and there's a moving death field under a button in the ceiling that you have to press under a moving jump pad in the start of level 8 that is almost impossible to get past even if you slow it down ("almost" impossible because i did get past it once(oops, seems there's a trick to doing and i was doing it wrong the whole time)). I've finally beaten the game and it was a nice journey, if your looking for a challenge this could be it good luck.
